Romans 15:14 (Williams) Jay Adams did not use research of scientific findings to determine that Christians are competent to counsel. His method is presuppositional as he avowedly accepts the inerrant Bible as the standard of all faith and practice. Further, he recognizes that his interpretations and applications of Scriptures are not infallible.

A Book Review: Competent to Counsel by Jay Adams

Jay E. Adams, author of Competent to Counsel and a member of the Academy of ACBC Heath Lambert has updated Adams's work in A Theology of Biblical Counseling, showing that biblical doctrine is sufficient to address the problems of human life and therefore is the foundation for godly and effective counseling.

Jay E. Adams, Competent to Counsel Counseling

Competent to Counsel? is neither hagiography nor a blistering attack. It is a balanced, nuanced examination, not only of the history, but of the theology and methodology of Jay Adams and nouthetic counseling. Powlison takes his readers first to the historical backdrop that led to the rise of nouthetic counseling.
